"An Acadian Experience"

Dufour

The Dufour name came to Northern America with a military man named Robert-Gabriel Dufour, a native of Lisieux, Normandy, France, around 1690. The Dufour family's early history unfolds in coastal areas along the St. Lawrence River. In the late 1700's the Dufour name came to the St. John Valley with the arrival of two brothers, David and Joseph. They were the sons of Joseph Dufour (1740-1784) the mail carrier assassinated by Indians on the St. John River not far from the site of the Dufour Family Reunion.

The true genealogical characteristics of Valley Dufours is typical of most other valley families, a blend of two cultures. The Dufour roots originate in the province of Quebec, while most maternal ancestry can be traced to Old Acadia. In June 1799, at St. Basile, N.B., David and Joseph Dufour married, on the same day, into Acadian families. Both had prolific families from whom all the Dufours with roots in the Valley and elsewhere descend. Today, Dufours can be found in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Dufour Reunion

Dear Dufour Family Members and Friends,

A Family Reunion is a joyous occasion, a chance to renew acquaintances, an opportunity to discover relatives you never ever thought you had. While our modern life tends to fracture us into highly mobile small nuclear family units, a Grand Reunion opens the door to discover the fact of mobile importance that beyond the nuclear family there lies an extending family, one that includes the uncles, cousins and the aunts - yes, even the long lost "kissing cousins" and the relatives we call "cousins once removed."

What is the difference between a cousin, a cousin once removed, and a second cousin? Cousins are children of brothers and sisters. Second cousins are grandchildren of brothers and sisters, but the relationship of a child of one brother or sister to the grandchild of the other brother or sister is not second cousins but first cousins once removed.

The Historical Society congratulates the Dufour Family in bringing distant relatives together in a reunion which is guaranteed to help renew the spirit of family that was so crucial an element in the minds of our forebearers. He who renders homage to his forefathers brings honor unto himself.

God be with you.

The year 1983-84 marked another busy year for the Madawaska Historical Society with the summer bringing the usual high point in activity in the society's sponsorship of a family reunion during the Acadian Festival. Queries are often received at the Madawaska Historical Society why a quasi-municipal society such as ours engages in the sponsorship of family reunions. The answer is simple. We can think of no better way to emphasize the role of families in our Acadian heritage and the Valley's past.

According to our bi-laws the purpose of our historical society is "to bring together those people interested in history, especially the history of the St. John Valley." Family reunions tend to personalize that history, and brings to Madawaska people from all over the country when they are made to realize that their roots and their heritage are part of the package that can be had during a summer trip to the St. John Valley.

The next query we are most often asked relates to how the society goes about selecting families to be invited to a reunion under historical society sponsorship. Here again the answer is simple. There are two principle guidelines used in making the selection. These are that the family must be "Une Grande Famille Acadienne" and that somehow that family must have long historical involvement in the affairs of the St. John Valley. Families whose heritage harkens back to the days of the founding of Madawaska nearly two hundred years back have been, in the past reunions been the recipient of the invitation. In the past year the Dufour Family whose valley roots seep back back to the revolutionary War period gathered some two thousand strong to add flourish and camaraderie to the Acadian Festival. This summer the Thibodeau family has been invited to join us in returning to our sources.

1984-85 will also be a year of planning for the Madawaska Bicentennial. The coming year hopefully will see the ground work laid out, for the raising of the permanent Acadian Cross on the historic Acadian Landing site of 1785 - a site behind our Tante Blanche Museum which has been registered in the National Register of Historic Places.

With community wide support already received and further assistance from the Town of Madawaska, its civic organizations, churches and public spirited cooperations the permanent marble Acadian Cross will soon grace the shores of the historic St. John River.

To meet this goal in the anticipation of the Madawaska Bicentennial which will bring thousands of people to our town, a request of $5,000.00 is put forth by the society for the furtherance of this project and the activities of the Society which include the maintenance of the Tante Blanche Museum and Acadian Landing Site in St. David.

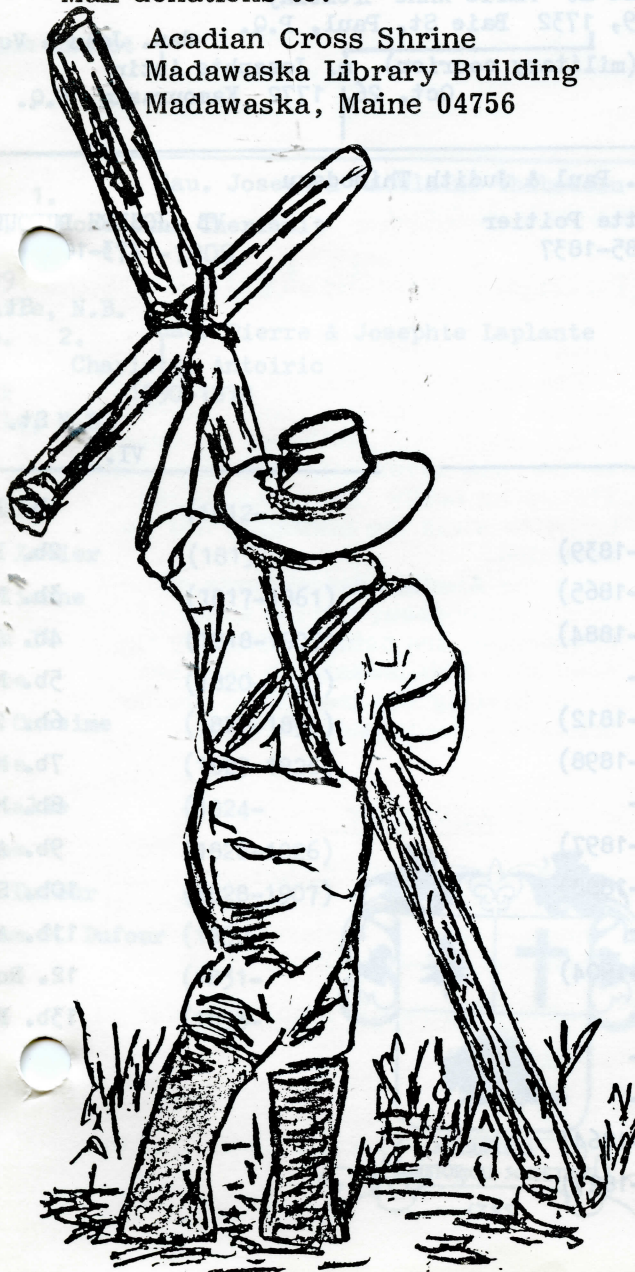

Sincerely yours,

Bertrand Cyr

Thibodeau family 1984 "grande famille Acadienne

The Board of Directors of the Madawaska Historical Society has voted to invite the Thibodeau Family to be the "Grande Famille Acadienne" slated to reunite at the Family Reunion on Acadian Day 1984.

The Thibodeau Family of the St. John Valley, as do Thibodeau's from many parts of the United States and Canada, trace their origins to Pierre Thibodeau (1631-1704), the Seigneur of Chipoudy, who emigrated from France to Acadia (Nova Scotia) in 1654.

The family founder, who married at Port Royal, Acadia (now Annapolis, N.S.) about 1660, fathered 16 children, among them seven sons who gave the Thibodeau family the numerous posterity to whom the invitation has been extended.

All the Acadian descendents of Pierre Thibodeau, the old miller of Pre-Ronde, are being invited by the Acadians of Madawaska to join them in celebrating the traditional Acadian holidays at Madawaska in 1984.
